Ninety and Nine Plan 10th State Convention

By Ed P. Dewees

"And He Brought Him to Jesus." With this great theme and challenge to go out after that man who is outside of Christ the Ninety and Nine men of the state will gather at the St. Johns Christian Church in Portland on October 14 in their 10th annual convention. This will be the first meeting of the convention in Portland since World War II and state officers hope to see a registration of over 600 to better the pre-war record attendance of 500. The program committee is hard at work and has already outlined some fine features. Posters and advertising bulletins will be mailed to every church in the state and will carry the detailed announcements of the program. Begin now to boost for the best delegation your church has ever had.

In a meeting of the state executive committee at Salem on August 29 the report of the planning and budget committee for 1946-47 was heard and approved after thorough consideration. A summary of these plans has been mailed to district and local officers so that all may have an opportunity to discuss them before their presentation at the business session of the convention. If you have not received it, or if you desire extra publicity materials on the convention, address your request to Ed Dewees, 9022 N. Mohawk Ove., Portland 3, Oregon.

433 Boys Attend Camp

Another season of Boys Camps under Ninety and Nine sponsorship has come and gone and with it new victories have been recorded. The total camp attendance was not as large as expected, but in every other respect the camps were "tops." Space will not permit a separate listing of all the camp statistics, but they will be given in totals. While many of the boys have already named the name of Christ there were 55 who made the Good Confession. There were 11 who made decisions for life-work as ministers or missionaries, and many others who re-dedicated their lives to the service of Christ. A number of boys completed their 4th year of work in Boys' Camps and received diplomas in recognition of that work.

As in past years boys selected by the student council and the faculty were awarded scholarships for the best all-around boy and half scholarships for the second best. In lieu of a third award one boy in each camp is selected for honorable mention. In the listing of the camps below attendance figures are given and the names of the boys chosen for the above honors in each camp. Skyliner's Lodge (Bend) 44, Melvin Maudlin, Richard Copeland, Billy Berg; Camp Myrtlewood (Bridge) 41, Kerry Hoover, Maurice Vogenpohl, Jr., Lloyd Hammond; First Turner, 115, Michael Benedict, Billy Henderson, Donnie Wright; Second Turner, 83, Clifford Womack, Arthur White, LeRoy Hershiser; First Wi-Ne-Ma, 53, Lester Ray, Gary Matthews, ... Henrickson; Second Wi-Ne-Ma, 36, Russell Bony, Irvin Teagarden, Lauen Johnston; Cove, 62, Don Alexander, Dick Lauer, Jim Smith. Special men-

Pulpit Changes

The Mallory Avenue (Portland) Church has called Hubert E. Sias, pastor at Forest Grove for the past four years. The new pastorate beings October 1.

Gene Robinson leaves Turner for La Grande on October 1, having spent five years in this pastorate.

Russell Myers has accepted a call to Milton, having been in Silverton more than five years.

Leonard Mansen is leaving Sheridan for the purpose of school work in the east.

Joe Jewett left Milton for Heppner August 1. He has had a successful work in Milton.

George H. Richardson closed his work at Halfway September 1. We have not heard where he will go.

NORTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN HOME

Mrs. Laura K. Hill, Sup't.

Some of the members of Northwestern Christian Home have had a little variation from the usual routine in touches of vacation. At the time of the Turner convention Mrs. Hill took a carload on a number of different days and thus enabled many of the group to enjoy a day at the convention.

Several have been able to get away for visits with friends or relatives. These have included Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Bunnell, Mr. Hardesty, Mrs. Newbill, and Mrs. Todd. Mrs. Davis hopes to go a little later. While Mr. Hardesty was visiting a nephew in Olympia he was called on to tell a church group about the Home and was able to do that with enthusiasm.

One of the memorable events of the summer was a picnic in Mt. Tabor Park. Four carloads from the Home went on a tour that included a drive through the hills, down the river to St. Johns Bridge, up the other side of the river past Swan Island and out to the Park for a picnic dinner. The weather was perfect and it was a grand day for all those who went.

Some Movies

There have been a couple evenings of movies. One evening we had a look at the movies of our own and the California Homes and the new 35 mm. kodachromes of Northwestern Home. Another evening the Swanders came and Courtney showed pictures of Oregon churches and preachers, Oregon scenery, the centennial convention and the youth conferences.

On a Sunday when Brother Oscar Cooper, of Vancouver, came to conduct our church service he made a report of the International Convention in Columbus, Ohio.

Health Notes

Mrs. Bertha I. Scott, who came to Northwestern Christian Home from Vancouver, Washington, in December 1944, developed mental illness which could not be cared for in the Home and was transferred back to Washington for care.

Mrs. Rhodes and Miss Merrick are quite ill at the time this is written. Other members of the farmily are in near enough normal health to get around and come to meals.

THE PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

A few months ago, as two elders from different congregations were talking with me, one asked the other, "What salary are you paying your preacher?" The amount named was embarrassingly low. "That isn't enough," was the emphatic reply.

Educationally Speaking

The summer camps are over. An evaluation of them is very satisfactory. In attendance they ran: Turner young people, 91; Turner intermediates, 42; Bridge young people, 43; Bridge intermediates, 31; Cove young people, 46; Cove intermediates, 64; Total, 317. While attendance fluctuates from year to year the general trend is upward. So marked was it in the Cove intermediates that it seems now imperative that there should be two camps instead of one. The possession of grounds in eastern Oregon makes that a possibility from a financial standpoint now.

Other Camps

The Silver Creek Young Peoples Conference has not yet been reported to us in details. That it was successful beyond expectation is a fact. The attendance went to nearly 100. It was under the general leadership of Clifford Trout and Russell Myers, both of whom counselled with our state educational committee and used standard leadership courses in the curriculum.

The Christian Service Camps at Wi-Ne-Ma and Fir Point were held as usual. They are entirely independent of our state commitee but are doing a commendable and needed service. It may seem sometimes that the young people's camp field is over crowded yet such is not the case. We are still only touching the hem of the garment of this field—touching only a few hundred of the thousands of youth in our churches.

Rally Day

When this column is being read Rally Day will be just around the corner. This event is the "official" opening of the new school year. It should be done with carefulness and exactness. If it reaps its true value it should be something more than a spasmodic big crowd. The true religious educator is interested in something more than a big crowd. once a year—he is satisfied with nothing less than a maximum attendance all the year through, and the effective handling of those people in the class room and in service.

A thirty year old custom at rally day among Oregon schools is the offering for state work. This offering goes into the general fund of the State Board and is partial compensation for the time, office work, promotional expense and travel account entailed by the state board in this department. This is the only source from which the schools contribute to this expense. All the rest of these expenses come from general state offerings. The Thanksgiving offerings come back to the extent of $350, but this money goes into the educational fund and is used for special project

(To Page Two)

Result: Two preachers' salaries raised; two elders pleased that their pastors can rival the Village Blacksmith in "facing the whole world." Here in N. C. C. we have not the slightest interest in educating young people whose goal in life can be measured in money only. But it is obvious that while a pastor does not live by bread alone he needs bread and it is expensive.

What salary should be paid the pastor? Certainly as much as the local superintendent of schools.

Dear Elders, Deacons, Church Boards: Since your pastor is probably too modest and unselfish to tell you about his econmic problems it is up to you to look out for him. Review his needs and your obligations, then act according to the dictates of your generous Christian conscience. Confidence, expressed in terms of salary advance, will be more than repaid through service that comes through greater economic freedom.

Please let me know when you have carried out this suggestion so that I may rejoice with you and your pastor. May God transmute your earthly wealth into spiritual riches that you may have treasure in Heaven.—Ross J. Griffeth.

Housing Shortage

The housing situation is acute in Eugene. We are making progress in providing for next year's student body but the job is not yet complete. Apartments for married students are especially hard to find. The school will do everything possible to assist all married students to find housing, but such students should come to Eugene well in advance of the opening of school and make sure they have a place to live before moving.

Bixler Comes to NCC

Lawrence M. Bixler has accepted an invitation to join the faculty of Northwest Christian College. Mr. Bixler brings to N. C. C. a rich background of academic training and pastoral experience. He is 33 years of age, spent most of his boyhood on a ranch in Tulare, California. He graduated from Tulare Union High School with the honor ef being one of three California vocational agriculture students to be selected as "American Farmer" in the National Congress of Future Farmers of America. In 1933 he entered N. C. C., receiving his B.Th. Degree in 1937. He was pastor of the church in Lebanon for four years. The period 1942-46 was spent in graduate work at Butler University. From Butler he received the degrees of A.B., M.Sc., B.D. Mr. Bixler has done special work

Lost and Found

Found at Turner following the Pioneer Camp—a pin consisting of two hearts inscribed "Pat and Frank," with pendant "41" on it; also, attached by chain, a hexagon shaped pin with letter Z surrounded by tiny pearls.

Following the Cove conference a brown wool skirt for an intermediate girl, and a blue wool shirt for an intermediate boy.

Owners may have same by writing to the state office.

work, not general expense. We trust that every school will provide this offering either on Rally Day or at some other time in the year. The total amount should reach $1,000. Let us hear from you soon after rally day.

A New Book

We strongly recommend the inclusion in every church school library of the new book by O. L. Shelton, "The Church Functioning Effectively." We especially recommend the reading of Chapter IX on "The Educational Department." Every church school officer and teacher should read it. It may be had from the Bethany Press, 2700 Pine Street, St. Louis 3, Missouri for the price of $1.50.

H. B. McMormick is New President of U. C. M. S.

By Muriel Jordan

Dr. H. B. McCormick, pastor of the Lakewood Church in Cleveland, Ohio, since 1930, was elected president of the United Christian Missionary Society at the International Convention in Columbus, Ohio. He succeeds Robert M. Hopkins who has accepted an appointment to serve as an ambassador to the Churches of Christ in Europe.

Dr. McCormick served as head of the promotional department of U. C. M. S. from 1923-30, and has had an active interest in its affairs since. Prior to that he held pastorates in the Woodward Avenue Church in Detroit, Michigan, and of the Crawford Road church in Cleveland. He received his A.B. degree from Hiram College, and his D. D. degree from Union Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Leslie Carson, State President of the Women's Missionary Organizations was the representative of that board to attend the International Convention in Columbus. She reported a most outstanding program and an inspirational meeting. One of the high points was the Sunday morning service at which 50 missionaries were present and each one gave a two-minute talk about his work and field. Some of them were retired, some home on furlough and some newly commissioned recruits.

Addresses were made during the convention by Mr. O. J. Goulter, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Huber, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, all of whom were prisoners of the Japanese during the war. During the business session new members of the Board of Managers of the U. C. M. S. were elected. Mrs. John R. Howard, retiring president of the Oregon Christian Women's Missionary Society, and Dudley Strain, pastor of Salem First Church, were the new members elected from Oregon.

Breakfast at Eugene

An important event of the Eugene Women's Missionary Society was the annual August breakfast held in the social rooms of the Church on August 13. About 100 attended the breakfast which was served by the Hattie Mitchell group and the program was under the direction of the Goldie Wells group. The main address was given by Mrs. Paul Means, former missionary in the Orient under the Methodist Board, who gave a vivid description of the dangerous conditions existing in the Islands of the South Pacific following the Japanese invasion. Mrs. J. W. Jordan spoke briefly on high lights of the recent retreat of the State Missionary Board held at Lewis and Clark College in Portland. Mrs. M. E. Jepson led the impressive devotional service.

Federation Meeting

Plans for an officers training day to be held in the First Christian Church in Portland on September 19 were announced by the executive committee of the Portland Federation of which Mrs. C. H. Fowler is president. Several members of the State Board of Missionary Organizations will be leaders and resource persons. Officers and leaders of Women's Missionary societies or councils of the entire Portland and surrounding area are invited. The regular monthly meeting of the Federation will be held the following day, September 20, at the St. Johns Christian Church in Portland.

Stella Tremaine

A recent letter from Stella Tremaine, who returned to her station in Wuhu, China, during the closing days of the war, made a plea for our prayers for the work. A problem facing our 6 churches in that city is that of a small group of radical missionaries who have started a sect called "Jesus' Family" which proselytes from the regularly established churches, urges the members to sell all they have and put it in a common treasury, and then they have sessions from ten days to two weeks duration when all the members eat and sleep there and indulge in orgies of shouting, praying and speaking in tongues. Miss Tremaine is concerned over the divisions and strife created by the group among the established churches and asks our prayers in combatting the influence of it. She said further, "With our population of 300,000 here in Wuhu we need 100 churches instead of 6, and I wish that our church could start at least two more of them, but pray it may be a happy, constructive growth for the kingdom." She reports 700 students in the grade school and 200 in the upper grades.

Miss Tremaine said: "Our Mother's Club goes on well, the members are mothers of 91 children, some of them are well educated young women with fine clean, healthy families, but some are ignorant and have naughty, dirty, illkept children. We want them to profit by teaching and example. I have been able to get milk powder from the Relief organization for undernourished children. Clothing is not such a problem in the summer, but most of them will need clothing in the Fall.

"As to my own living conditions, I have been able to find furniture scattered around in different homes, enough for two bed rooms, and my piano, it is in very bad condition, but I can still play hymns on it so it is a great help; but outside of the piano I have nothing in my living room; but I have borrowed benches for the 16 meetings I have every week. We have evening worship each night, attendance 25 to 40; four CYF groups; women's prayer meeting; Mother's Club; Women's Bible Classes; Choir and English Bible class.

"So many things I wish I had brought with me, but I have sent requests to friends and things will be coming out. How I wish we could get a supply of that DDT we hear so much about but can't get. The fleas and bedbugs are terribly numerous and ferocious this summer. It is tragic the way children are chewed up by them. No ordinary method can control them when the rat population of the city can run about so freely through these old dilapidated houses. Prices are terrific and no signs of improvement yet, robbery is common and recovery from war is hard. Pray for all of the Lord's work."

New Missionaries

Nine new missionaries have been sent to India by the United Society during the past 12 months. Educational, evangelistic and medical work is progressing in each station and outstation. In Kotmi a new class in adult literacy was organized. All schools were filled to capacity. Pendra Road and Kotmi cooperated in a camping program. The government made a grant of 4,000 Rupees annually for the purchase of glasses for the cataract patients in the Munyeli district. "The American Troup Carrier Ward" was made possible at the Takhatpur hospital by the gifts of American soldiers stationed there. The successful use of penicillin at Damoh hospital inspired many people to give money to buy a refrigerator in which to store it. The new chapel at the school added much to the spiritual life.

We are happy to report that a large house has been secured for the use of N. C. C. students. It is located 2 blocks from the campus and will accommodate 25 students. Mrs. S. E. Stevens, dean of women, has made possible the use of this house. This will help, but will not answer the need.

Worship

By Mrs. Arthur J. Stanley
Spiritual Life Chairman

Prayer is the heart of worship. It is a personal approach to God. It is fellowship with God.

In planning a worship service time and thought should be given to the prayer to be offered. 1.-The person offering prayer should be notified in advance. 2.-Prayer thoughts should be guided by the theme of the meeting. 3.-Always have prayer in a worship service. 4.-Prayer should be offered in a voice audible to all. 5.-It should provoke thought. 6.-It should be brief and concrete. 7.-There should not be repetition of the same phrases. 8.-It should be addressed to God.

A complete prayer should contain five things: 1.-Recognition of God; 2.-Praise to God; 3.-Petition; 4.-Forgiveness; 5.-Thanksgiving. These are elements in the Disciples' prayer in Matthew 5:9.

It was decided that I should prepare a worship service each month and send to the societies of the state. If your society wants them send me $1 to defray expense of sending.

A NEW BOOK

By Edgar DeWitt Jones

"The Coming of the Perfect" is the title of a new book of sermons by the gifted writer and eloquent preacher, Edgar DeWitt Jones, Detroit pastor. Brother Jones has an inimitable style and every paragraph is packed with provoking thought. It is published by the Bethany Press, St. Louis, and sells for $2.00.

Direct Support Mission News

By J. Frank Cunningham

Now that the summer camp season is over we wish that we had a complete picture of the Christian Service Camps for you. However, we have seen no reports from the Silver Creek Camp or from the Westmoreland Junior Camp.

Earl Downing reports 141 students at the Southern Oregon Christian Service Camp held at Fir Point, and estimates 9 confessions and 17 life recruits. The camp set aside $100 to send Vera Morgan to the Camp Leaders Week at Lake James, Indiana.

The Northern Oregon Christian Service Camp (to be known in the future as Wi-Ne-Ma Christian Service Camp) held at Wi-Ne-Ma Christian Camp grounds was well attended with 120 students in the Senior Camp and about 35 in the Intermediate Camp. 15 made the good confession at the Intermediate Camp, and 10 at the Senior Camp. Several of the young people at the Senior Camp made the decision to give their lives in full time service for Christ.

Sailings

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Owen Still sailed for Hawaii August 2, to work among the Japanese there. Our government, wisely or otherwise, is reluctant to grant passports to missionaries to Japan. For that reason Grace Farnham continues to work among the Japanese near San Jose, California. With the assistance of students from San Jose Bible College regular Sunday services are being held, and a Daily Vacation Bible School was conducted in July with an enrollment of 65, three-fourths of whom were Japanese Americans. Most of these children come from Buddhist homes. Grace says, "We need your prayers and your offerings."

Mission Notes

Dr. Homer C. Murphy, of Juneau, Alaska, spent several weeks in Oregon, attending our centennial convention, speaking in the churches, and teaching in the Wi-Ne-Ma Christian Service Camp and the Ninety and Nine Boys Camps at Bridge and Wi-Ne-Ma.

The "Osaka News," issued July 1, tells of plans for the rebuilding of the Osaka Christian Mission, established in 1919 by Brother and Sister M. B. Madden, a work that suffered from the withdrawal of missionaries in 1941 because of the war and from the destruction of its buildings by our bombardment of Osaka June 7, 1945. It is a work that still lives in the hearts of many Japanese Christians, including the loyal and devoted Capt. Sugano, an old schoolmate of this writer. Harold W. Cole is to become director of this mission. He will be assisted by Mrs. Cole, Paul and Marcia Neilsen, Grace Madden Braley and Captain Sugano. Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Madden, founders of the mission, now living in Seattle, will act as promotional and forwarding agents in this country. Brother Madden is especially interested in raising $10,500 for reconstruction purposes. This was the amount of the original Land and Building Fund. While cost of construction will be greater now the mission still has the land upon which to build. Though unable at present to get passports as missionaries it is hoped that Harold Cole may be appointed as interpreter to Japan, and thus be able to establish contact with the Japanese Christians sooner than otherwise. The churches at Willamina and Athena have asssumed living link support of Harold and Leona Cole, respectively.

Turner Memorial Home

N. J. Reasoner, recently retired as a member of the Board of Trustees of Turner Memorial Home. William Morse, minister at Seaside, has been elected to fill the unexpired term. Brother and Sister Reasoner are now occupying one of the cottages at the Home. Superintendent Gilstrap has undergone hospitalization and surgery for an injured ankle. He is reported to be improving satisfactorily. Several inquiries have come to the Home from elderly Christian ministers regarding the possibility of finding a home in cottages. The trustees of the Home are anxiously awaiting the time when material will be available for completion of the Centennial Cottage. More funds will be needed for this work.

A bulletin introduces the Northern Burma Christian Mission to be established by C. W. Callaway, Jr. The Callaways were educated at Phillips University and Cincinnati Bible Seminary. They hope to go to London for a brief medical course, then on to Burma.

Laverne Morse, son of J. Russell Morse, recently visited several Oregon churches with messages relative to the work among the Lisu people.

"The Church Functioning Effectively"

Is the title of the latest book on church organization, by O. L. Shelton, dean of the School of Religion, Butler University. This book is the outgrowth of experience in several pastorates, both large and small, and was written at the request of the Committee on Local Church Life of the Home and State Missions Planing Council. The subject matter of this book has been presented in various preacher gatherings in several states and embodies suggestions received from a large number of sources. It has 15 chapters and can be used as a text for a church officers class. The price is $1.50 and can be had from the publishers, The Bethany Press, 2700 Pine Blvd., St. Louis 3, Missouri.

Odell held their usual anniversary service on September 1. Under the leadership of Ted Boyer they are growing. Brother Boyer and wife made a vacation trip to the east. W. O. Livingstone supplied the pulpit while he was gone.

Hood River Valley is experiencing prosperous times in the church. H. L. Porter is the pastor, and the people are rallying to his leadership. One Sunday night he had 43 young people in the service.

A Son is Born

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. DeVere Penhollow, Redmond, August 6, weight 6 pounds, 1 ounce. Named him James Elton. This is the fifth son in this home. Congratulations!

Correction

In last issue we erroneously stated that James Bartholomew had resigned at Hermiston to take a church in Washington. It should have said that he was taking work at Butler University. Apologies!

B. Ross Evans, state evangelist, has spent the summer on his ranch at Hood River. He and his wife made a trip through the eastern states as a part of their vacation. His fall evangelistic work begins at Culver on September 29.

North Plains reports 10 baptisms during August. Ralph Holcomb is the pastor. This community is thriving both economically and spiritually.

Cecil Warner, pastor at The Dalles, is reported to be bedfast with a slight attack of heart trouble. It is not too serious but the bed was ordered as a preventive of something worse rather than a cure for something bad. We hope he is out again soon.

Ninety and Nine State Convention, St. Johns, October 14

tion was made of Tom Dent in the last named camp at Cove (first Eastern Oregon Boys Camp held on the new grounds purchased by our churches last spring) who was ineligible for the scholarships because of his age but made an outstanding contribution to the camp.

Team at Rockaway

Following their round of services in the Boys Camps Willie White and his co-workers, Truman and Virginia Robbins, opened their evangelistic work for the fall in the Rockaway church early this month. Truman and Virginia helped to get the Rockaway field reopened last June and the evangelistic committee responded to the call of the brethren there for a meeting to strengthen the work and to recruit new members from families who have moved into the community in recent months. Visiting delegations will be welcomed and the prayers of all Christians are solicited for the success of the work.

Baker to Entertain

The invitation of the Baker church to entertain the Eastern Oregon Divisional Rally was accepted at a business meeting of the Eastern Oregon men held at Cove during the Boys camp. The date of the meeting was set for Friday, October 4, and the program committee is planning for an afternoon session to begin at 3 o'clock in addition to the regular banquet and evening session. As in the past the Eastern Oregon state vice-president and pastor adviser will be nominated at this meeting as well as officers for that area.

District Doings

Metropolitan-Northwest: The annual summer picnic meeting was held at the Multnomah church July 28 with the families of the men as guests. After a fine picnic dinner under the trees (topped off with an ice cream treat provided by the hosts) a brief program was held in the church. The message of the afternoon was given by Frank Cunningham, of Newberg. The next district rally will be held September 23, with directors to be elected for the ensuing year.

Central Oregon: A rally of the Central Oregon District was held at Powell Butte August 15. Cecil Warner, Sr., of The Dalles was guest speaker.

McKenzie: The regular district rally was held at Oakridge August 19—one of those real summer days which culminated in a series of showers and electric storms. Original plans called for an outdoor meeting at the Pool, but "mountain mist" and early darkness cancelled that idea and after a comedy of "several errors" all the lost sheep were collected and herded into the church dining room for the pot-luck supper. In the business meeting which followed C. A. Lyman, secretary-treasurer, presented the financial report of the district along with the dire need of the state treasury for funds to offset Boys' Camps and other obligations. His appeal was succinct and unique and provided a check for $302.50 to put the district pledge to state work over the crossbar. A splendid inspirational message was then given by Lawrence Bixler, an Oregon "prodigal" returned from Butler University to a place on the faculty of Northwest Christian College. The next rally will be held in First Christian Church in Eugene October 21.

Willamette: More than 100 men journeyed to Mill City for the August rally of Willamette district Monday the 26th. After a fine repast served by the ladies of the Mill City church, program chairman Ernest Haley got things going for a real inspirational evening. Song leading by Holley Jarvis, of Lebanon, along with special music from the same church, provided a fitting prelude for the business and message of the evening. Treasurer Holt very nearly caught up with Brother Lyman, of McKenzie District, in completing the district goal to state work, but he had a bit further to go. $385 was turned in to put the district some $26 from the finish line of $1,600. State President Dobbins gave a word on behalf of the state convention and commended the district for its work. Fred Towne, of Dallas, presented a stirring appeal in his message on behalf of the "world outreach" of the gospel. The invitation of the Court Street Church in Salem was accepted for the October 28 rally.

The Building Front

With all the emphasis on camps and other phases of the work we have perhaps overlooked the busy building programs of our new churches. All have been as busy as materials and labor would permit. At Seaside the church moved into its new building in July to save further rent in the place where services had been held. Despite the great amount of work still to be done the brethren there are carrying on and making every effort to get the building in shape for winter. They have appreciated the delegations who have given much in volunteer labor and also gifts from churches and individuals toward the financial side of building. Let's keep the good work going.

At Glendale the church could not get their building ready for dedication on September 1 as hoped, but are now pointing toward that happy occasion about Thanksgiving time. Here, too, assistance is still needed to put the property in shape to render real service in extending the kingdom.

The Milwaukie brethren are also moving right along in their campaign to get under their own roof before winter. Churches and men in the metropolitan area can do much by funds and labor to help them reach their goal.

Perhaps the need of Burns is the most acute of all just at this time. As this is written there is some doubt as to whether the theater building in which they have been meeting can be used this winter. Lots have been purchased and preliminary steps taken toward building plans. However, with the current pressure for housing and consequent complications toward building the situation is difficult. Lets remember the Burns church in our prayers in this critical period.

WANTED—CHAIRS

The Church at Milwaukie desires to know if there is another church somewhere that has folding chairs they might want to dispose of. If so notify Mrs. Thomas Alcorn, Milwaukie. It will be a real service to a deserving church.

Cove Grounds

Word reaches us that the dining hall on the Cove grounds is almost complete. It is planned to erect an office building yet this fall. It is hoped that each church in eastern Oregon will erect a cabin large enough to house 12 persons. For particulars write Paul Moore, Athena.

Myron C. Cole, from Cincinnati, Ohio will be the new pastor of Portland First after September 15. He comes with high recommendations. We bid him cordial welcome to Oregon.
